DAWES REPORT TO BE GIVEN ITS FULL APPLICATION

BARRING 11TH HOUR HITCH, ALLIED CONFERENCE TO SIGN PROTOCOLS

THE GERMAN REPRESENTATIVES AGREE TO FRENCH PROPOSALS ON RUHR

(By United Press)
London, Aug. 16.—The end of the struggle to solve the reparations problem growing out of the peace treaty of Versailles is at hand.

Barring an eleventh hour hitch, the conference on the application of the Dawes report will meet in plenary session at 6:30 o'clock this evening to sign in part and initial in part the protocols providing the basis of and the machinery for payment of Germany's war penalties.

Announcement of the plenary session was made after the German representatives had capitulated and accepted Premier Herriot's French proposal that evacuation of the Ruhr occur within one year.

With signatures or initials affixed to the several protocols, the conference will have officially completed its task. There will then remain legislation of approval to be passed by parliaments of the Allied powers and Germany—and the reparations question, which has been the issue of many cabinets and resulted in the fall of not a few will have been definitely disposed of.

CLAIM TOURIST SPEEDING WITH MURDERED BODIES

Witchita, Okla., Aug. 16.—Armed deputies guarded all highways in this section today in an effort to capture an unidentified tourist reported speeding across the country with the bodies of his murdered wife and child.

According to Mrs. John Roy, who operates a filling station here, a man, woman and two children alighted from their automobile to purchase gasoline.

The couple quarreled and the man, presumably the woman's husband, opened fire, killing the woman and one of the children.

The mysterious killer then snatched up the bodies, pitched them in the rear seat of the car and with the other little girl sped away, Mrs. Roy told officers.

Deputy sheriffs followed a trail of blood for several miles toward Hoffman.

Near Hoffman the trail branched off on a lonely road proceeding southwest toward the Canadian river.

Armed guards were stationed at a bridge crossing this road.

Divorced Couple Must Regard Each Other as Strangers, Judge Rules

St. Paul, Aug. 16.—After a man has been divorced from his wife he no longer can be compelled to pay her attorney's fees for endeavors in subsequent conflicts.

They should be as strangers to each other in such cases.

Such is the gist of an order filed in district court by Judge John B. Sanborn in the case of John F. Fitzpatrick vs. Cora B. Fitzpatrick.

Judge Sanborn denied the motion of Cora B. Fitzpatrick for an order requiring her former husband to pay her attorney's fees.

"After the relation of a husband and wife has been terminated, there is no reason why the parties should stand in any different relation to each other, so far as the matter of costs and attorney's fees is concerned in subsequent conflicts, than as though they were strangers," the order reads.

100 MEXICAN BANDITS HOLD UP VERA CRUZ TRAIN

DERAILED IT AND WRECKED ENGINE AND TWO COACHES

KILLED 20 PASSENGERS IN CARS, CRIME SCENE NEAR JALAPA

Mexico City, Aug. 16.—Upwards of 100 bandits held up a Vera Cruz train near San Salvador late yesterday, derailed it and wrecked the engine and two coaches, and then turned a deadly rifle fire into the cars.

Some twenty passengers on the train were killed, according to first reports of the attack received here today.

The bandit rebels were said to have been under the command of General Guadalupe Sanchez. The scene of the holdup is about 40 kilometers from Jalapa.

In addition to the number killed, which included two soldiers of the armed escort on the train, several Germans and Mexicans were severely wounded. Three Germans were among those wounded.

Some of the passengers joined with the soldiers in efforts to beat off the bandits. When they had either killed or wounded all the passengers, the bandits turned to looting the train. All the passengers were robbed, even women and children being searched for money and valuables.

The train was wrecked by obstacles being placed on the track. When the engine struck the obstacles it left the tracks and turned over with two of the coaches.

THRIVING STILL INDUSTRY RUN BY TWO GIRLS

DAKOTA COUNTY GIRL MOONSHINERS RELEASED ON $2,000 BAIL

$10,000 MOONSHINE PLANT OPERATING FULL BLAST ON FARM

St. Paul, Aug. 16.—The two Dakota county girl moonshiners were taken home by their father last night after $2,000 bail was posted with U. S. Commissioner W. P. Goddard.

The girls, Florence Friermuth, 15, and her married sister, Mrs. Susie Friermuth Doffing, 20, will be given a preliminary hearing August 25 before Commissioner Goddard.

The bond was put up by George Friermuth and Richard Varion, neighboring farmers.

The girls were arrested late Thursday by St. Paul dry agents when an immense $10,000 moonshine plant was found on the farm of the married sister. The two girls alone were running the largest of four stills, which totalled 275 gallons capacity.

William Doffing, husband of Susie, is now serving three months in St. Louis county jail for manufacturing liquor on the same farm in May.

* MRS. LA FOLLETTE SCORES "DAY OF MOBILIZATION" *

CHARGES IT A MOVE OF WAR DEPARTMENT TO "CREATE A LITTLE WAR HYSTERIA"

DECLARES PUBLIC SENTIMENT KEPT COMPULSORY TRAINING FROM BECOMING LAW

(By United Press)
Madison, Wis., Aug. 16.—Denouncing "mobilization day" as part of a "huge scheme of militarism," Mrs. Belle Case LaFollette, wife of the independent candidate for president today proclaimed it a move of the war department to "create a little war hysteria."

Declaring public sentiment had kept compulsory training from becoming a law in the last congress, Mrs. LaFollette predicted that if the day is the success the war department anticipates, the issue will have to be fought over again in the next congress.

Quoting General Pershing as declaring "this day is part of preliminary steps required for prompt utilization of our large reserve force of patriotic citizens," Mrs. LaFollette, in an article in LaFollette's Magazine, comments "herein is revealed the real incentive, the underlying motive of mobilization day."

"The War Department, deprived for the time being of the power to carry out its plan by compulsory training, has found it necessary to rely on voluntary training to work out its huge scheme of militarism contemplated by the re-organization act of 1920.

PRES. COOLIDGE BACK HOME FOR SHORT VACATION

EXECUTIVE TIRED, BUT HAPPY TO BE FREE FOR A FEW DAYS

HAS HAD LESS TIME FOR RELAXATION THAN MOST LOWLY CLERK IN U. S. EMPLOY

By WILLIAM J. LOSH
(By United Press)

Plymouth, Vt., Aug. 16.—Tired but happy to be free from the cares of state for a while, President Coolidge arrived "back home" today to enjoy a 12-day vacation on his father's farm.

It is the first real vacation since he left for the White House just one year and thirteen days ago.

He has less time for relaxation, members of his party pointed out, than the government gives to the lowest clerk in its employ.

The president's special, which brought the president and Mrs. Coolidge and their son John from Washington, arrived at Ludlow, the nearest railroad station, to Plymouth, about 3 o'clock this morning. The family and accompanying party, however, did not arise until a more reasonable hour and then were driven here in one of the White House limousines which had been sent up in advance.

Here there are heavy seas and the ship is fogbound. There is a very cold wind and the rain is pelting at the decks. The situation is indicative that the fliers will face perils should they be forced to land in the storm-swept Arctic current.

OFFICERS SEARCH FOR THE ALLEGED SLAYER OF GIRL

FARMER IDENTIFIES BODY AS THAT OF DAUGHTER, LILLIAN MCKINNEY

MCKINNEY DECLARES HE BELIEVES DAUGHTER DIED FIGHTING FOR HONOR

(By United Press)

Clarinda, Ia., Aug. 16.—Officers today redoubled their efforts to locate Carl Hough, alias Carroll Wilson, following positive identification of the girl found murdered near Bedford, Iowa, Wednesday.

Elmer H. McKinney, who arrived here from his home in Herrick, S. D., last night, identified the body as that of his daughter, Lillian, who eloped with Hough on August 5.

The search started from Oakland, Iowa, where it was learned that Hough visited his mother and brother Sunday with the girl, whom he introduced as his wife, and again on Thursday, when he was alone.

McKinney declared he believes his daughter died fighting for her honor. He thinks Hough induced the girl to leave home on a promise of marriage and then refused to carry out this promise.

"Lillian was a good girl," the father said. "The condition of her face shows that she died fighting for the only thing she had left — her honor."

Wife Fibbed About Age; He Wins a Divorce

Boston, Aug. 16.—Paul Werner, Charlestown stereotyper, told the court that he thought his beautiful bobbed haired wife was only 27 years old until her first husband came up from Brooklyn with her 24-year-old daughter, so Justice Hall nullified the marriage a few days ago in Suffolk divorce court.

Harriet F. Werner of Charlestown must be at least 50 years old, the stereotyper said. When they were married in 1921 she looked no more than 25 although she told Register McGleaven that she was two years older. He said that he did not know she had run away from her first husband, a Brooklyn musician, and her daughter before that.

And she forgot to get a divorce before her second wedding.

* CORONER'S JURY INVESTIGATES THE DEATH OF WOMAN *

IN MRS. THERESA MORS INQUIRY. LOS ANGELES, 2 QUESTIONS ASKED

"WHAT WAS MCCOY MOTIVE?" "DID SHE COMMIT SUICIDE?" IN APARTMENT

(By United Press)
Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 16.—The coroner's jury investigating the death of Mrs. Theresa Mors, wealthy antique shop proprietress, today turned back to District Attorney Asa Keyes for a solution of these two unanswered questions:

"Did Norman Selby, known in the ring as Kid McCoy, kill Mrs. Theresa Mors to prevent her from turning her affections from him to another, or—"

"Did Mrs. Mors commit suicide after McCoy struggled with her in her apartment to save her from herself?" Testimony of the coroner's autopsy surgeon that while the shot that killed Mrs. Mors left no distinguishable powder burns on her face, the revolver was fired at close range, left the coroner's jury in doubt as to the cause of death.

Therefore it found that the woman was killed with a revolver fired a few inches from her head and recommended further examination of the case.

The findings of the jury constitute the first support the dapper kid has received for his suicide story. It was a setback for the state, but District Attorney Keyes said Selby will be faced with a murder charge nevertheless.

Rumors were circulated immediately after Selby's wild orgy of shooting and have persisted up until now that there was a fifth victim of the shooting affray. It was explained today by Mrs. Jennie Thomas, Selby's sister.

Mrs. Thomas said when Selby rushed into her home on the day that he shot three persons in Mrs. Mors' shop she understood him to say:

"I have shot a man."

"Now I have learned whom he meant."

"It was Mrs. Mors."

Mrs. Thomas is insisting that the Kid, hero of many ring and marital affairs, was not in his right mind when he went wild in the antique shop. Police also say that McCoy had been drinking when they arrested him after the shooting.

* MCCOY TAKES WORKOUT IN JAIL *

Los Angeles, Aug. 16.—Norman Selby (Kid McCoy) and the district attorney's office began rounding out their cases today, by which the former pugilistic champion will be either held for murder of Mrs. Theresa Mors or set at liberty.

For the first time since his arrest last Wednesday, McCoy began to show his old fighting form.

Prison attaches, however, said that he had been "moody" ever since his arrest—optimistic one moment and deeply depressed the next. He started his day in jail with a brief workout after the manner of his pugilistic days.

* ALIENISTS CALLED INTO THE CASE *

Los Angeles, Aug. 16.—Alienists were called into the Kid McCoy-Theresa Mors shooting case today.

Determined to offset any advantage McCoy's attorneys would gain by having defense alienists declare McCoy insane, District Attorney Asa Keyes today employed three state alienists and instructed them to make a thorough physical and mental examination of the ex-pugilist, held in connection with the murder of Mrs. Mors.

"McCoy's every act shows he is not insane, as his attorneys claim," said Keyes. "He is in possession of all his faculties and our alienists will prove it."

* COOLIDGE-DAWES TO WIN ON COAST, IS ROWE REPORT *

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Aug. 16.—The Coolidge-Dawes ticket will win the electoral votes of the Pacific coast states, according to Herman Rowe, secretary of the Minnesota Republican committee, who just returned from a three weeks' scouting cruise of the West.

Rowe, member of the executive committee of the National Editorial association, represented that organization at the annual convention of the Oregon State Editorial association at Tillamook.

"Newspaper men from all parts of the state and political leaders in Portland reported a strong and growing Coolidge sentiment in Oregon," he said. "In the state of Washington a strong LaFollette feeling has come up, but political leaders predicted Coolidge would carry the state. There seems to be little question about Coolidge and Dawes carrying the 'Sunshine State.'"

NEW REVOLT IN RUBBER DISTRICT, NORTHERN BRAZIL

EYE WITNESS MAKES REPORT IN WASHINGTON, D. C.

RIGID CENSORSHIP SUPPRESSES ALL REBELLION NEWS

(By United Press)

Washington, Aug. 16.—An eye witness report of a new revolt in the rubber provinces of northern Brazil, where Americans have large investments, was brought here today by American officials just returned from the area.

A rigid censorship has completely suppressed all news of the rebellion, which began July 25, according to this information.

The Brazilian embassy here denied the report, while the state department has only "some information of indefinite character."

"The revolution is led by state troops and clerks who had not been paid in two months," the returned officials told the United Press. "State soldiers, after overthrowing acting Governor Monteciro at Manaus, capital of Amazonas, were driven from the city by federal troops."

"The federal army commander has established a military government and so far as I know is still holding Manaus against the rebels."

(By United Press)

Criminal Courtroom, Chicago, Aug. 16.—Chief Defense Attorney Clarence Darrow stated today he would demand that all the state's medical evidence be stricken from the record of the Leopold-Loeb murder hearing on the ground that the youthful slayers were examined under compulsion.

While cross-examining Dr. Harold D. Singer, state alienist, Darrow brought out the fact that the youths were questioned under the direction of State's Attorney Crowe, despite the fact that the boys had been taken from Crowe's custody and placed in that of the sheriff.

MCKINNEY DECLARES HE BELIEVES DAUGHTER DIED FIGHTING FOR HONOR

(By United Press)

Clarinda, Ia., Aug. 16.—Officers today redoubled their efforts to locate Carl Hough, alias Carroll Wilson, following positive identification of the girl found murdered near Bedford, Iowa, Wednesday.

Elmer H. McKinney, who arrived here from his home in Herrick, S. D., last night, identified the body as that of his daughter, Lillian, who eloped with Hough on August 5.

The search started from Oakland, Iowa, where it was learned that Hough visited his mother and brother Sunday with the girl, whom he introduced as his wife, and again on Thursday, when he was alone.

McKinney declared he believes his daughter died fighting for her honor. He thinks Hough induced the girl to leave home on a promise of marriage and then refused to carry out this promise.

"Lillian was a good girl," the father said. "The condition of her face shows that she died fighting for the only thing she had left—her honor."

CORONER'S JURY
INVESTIGATES THE DEATH OF WOMAN

IN MRS. THERESA MORS INQUIRY, LOS ANGELES, 2 QUESTIONS ASKED

"WHAT WAS MCCOY MOTIVE?" "DID SHE COMMIT SUICIDE" IN APARTMENT

(By United Press)
Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 16.—The coroner's jury investigating the death of Mrs. Theresa Mors, wealthy antique shop proprietress, today turned back to District Attorney Asa Keyes for a solution of these two unanswered questions:

"Did Norman Selby, known in the ring as Kid McCoy, kill Mrs. Theresa Mors to prevent her from turning her affections from him to another, or—"

"Did Mrs. Mors commit suicide after McCoy struggled with her in her apartment to save her from herself?"

Testimony of the coroner's autopsy surgeon that while the shot that killed Mrs. Mors left no distinguishable powder burns on her face, the revolver was fired at close range, left the coroner's jury in doubt as to the cause of death.

Therefore it found that the woman was killed with a revolver fired a few inches from her head and recommended further examination of the case.

The findings of the jury constitute the first support the dapper kid has received for his suicide story. It was a setback for the state, but District Attorney Keyes said Selby will be faced with a murder charge nevertheless.

Mrs. Thomas is insisting that the Kid, hero of many ring and marital affairs, was not in his right mind when he went wild in the antique shop. Police also say that McCoy had been drinking when they arrested him after the shooting.

McCoy TAKES WORKOUT IN JAIL

Los Angeles, Aug. 16.—Norman Selby (Kid McCoy) and the district attorney's office began rounding out their cases today, by which the former pugilistic champion will be either held for murder of Mrs. Theresa Mors or set at liberty.

For the first time since his arrest last Wednesday, McCoy began to show his old fighting form.

Prison attaches, however, said that he had been "moody" ever since his arrest—optimistic one moment and deeply depressed the next. He started his day in jail with a brief workout after the manner of his pugilistic days.

ALIENISTS CALLED INTO THE CASE

Los Angeles, Aug. 16.—Alienists were called into the Kid McCoy-Theresa Mors shooting case today.

Determined to offset any advantage McCoy's attorneys would gain by having defense alienists declare McCoy insane, District Attorney Asa Keyes today employed three state alienists and instructed them to make a thorough physical and mental examination of the ex-pugilist, held in connection with the murder of Mrs. Mors.

"McCoy's every act shows he is not insane, as his attorneys claim," said Keyes. "He is in possession of all his faculties and our alienists will prove it."

COOLIDGE-DAWES
TO WIN ON COAST,
IS ROWE REPORT

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Aug. 16.—The Coolidge-Dawes ticket will win the electoral votes of the Pacific coast states, according to Herman Rowe, secretary of the Minnesota Republican committee, who just returned from a three weeks' scouting cruise of the West.

Rowe, member of the executive committee of the National Editorial association, represented that organization at the annual convention of the Oregon State Editorial association at Tillamook.

"Newspaper men from all parts of the state and political leaders in Portland reported a strong and growing Coolidge sentiment in Oregon," he said. "In the state of Washington a strong LaFollette feeling has come up, but political leaders predicted Coolidge would carry the state. There seems to be little question about Coolidge and Dawes carrying the 'Sunshine State.'"

NEW REVOLT IN
RUBBER DISTRICT,
NORTHERN BRAZIL

EYE WITNESS MAKES REPORT IN WASHINGTON, D. C.

RIGID CENSORSHIP SUPPRESSES ALL REBELLION NEWS

(By United Press)
Washington, Aug. 16.—An eye witness report of a new revolt in the rubber provinces of northern Brazil, where Americans have large investments, was brought here today by American officials just returned from the area.

A rigid censorship has completely suppressed all news of the rebellion, which began July 25, according to this information.

The Brazilian embassy here denied the report, while the state department has only "some information of indefinite character."

"The revolution is led by state troops and clerks who had not been paid in two months," the returned officials told the United Press. "State soldiers, after overthrowing acting Governor Monteciro at Manaus, capital of Amazonas, were driven from the city by federal troops."

"The federal army commander has established a military government and so far as I know is still holding Manaus against the rebels."

DARROW CLAIMS SLAYERS WERE EXAMINED UNDER COM-PULSION

ARRIVES AT CONCLUSION WHILE EXAMINING DR. HAROLD D. SINGER

(By United Press)
Criminal Courtroom, Chicago, Aug. 16.—Chief Defense Attorney Clarence Darrow stated today he would demand that all the state's medical evidence be stricken from the record of the Leopold-Loeb murder hearing on the ground that the youthful slayers were examined under compulsion.

While cross-examining Dr. Harold D. Singer, state alienist, Darrow brought out the fact that the youths were questioned under the direction of State's Attorney Crowe, despite the fact that the boys had been taken from Crowe's custody and placed in that of the sheriff.

OLD GLORY VIES
FOR HONORS WITH PURPLE & WHITE

JOHN E. REGAN IS RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT OF STATE ASSOCIATION

BRAINERD CHOSEN AS CONVENTION CITY FOR 1925

Of the Elks State Convention in Duluth, the Duluth News Tribune says in part:

Minnesota Elldom has inscribed another epochal event in its book of chronicles.

Its parade Friday night, the crowning spectacle of the three-day state convention in Duluth, was acclaimed the most successful—in color, formation and spirit—of any former effort in the history of the organization. Fully 50,000 turned out to witness the demonstration.

Old Glory vied for honors with the purple and white colors of Elldom as that long procession wended its way along Superior st. A huge American flag, 25 feet in length, carried by members of the Superior lodge, was one of the outstanding features of the procession. Headed by its 50-piece band, the lodge across the bay turned out its full marching club membership, 300 strong, nattily attired in white suits faced with purple.

Gerard of St. Cloud was recommended to the Grand Exalted Ruler for appointment as district grand deputy, Minnesota North, for the coming year, and James Ferry of Albert Lea and Charles England of Stillwater, were the recommendations for Minnesota South. The appointments will be made from the national headquarters at a later date.

President Regan read his annual message, and E. T. Lies of Chicago, representative of the American Playground and Recreational association and E. C. WOMAN RULES IN STRANGE LAND OF THE TO-RUNS

AGE HAS NO TERRORS FOR HER;
WIFE IS HEAD OF HOUSE

DIVORCE AND FREE LOVE ARE COMMON, SOME DON'T MARRY
AT ALL

By MILTON MACKAYE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Aug. 16.—American explorers have found a race of modern Amazons—a people where the woman is the head of the family and ruler of the house.

They are the To-Runs, a tribe of Mongol descent which inhabits that little-known part of western China, where are found the headwaters of the Yellow River, "the stream of gold."

Reports of two explorers sent to the region testify to the truth of the stories brought out of Asia. The explorers are Frederick R. Wulson, leader of an expedition sent by the National Geographic Society, and the late William Woodville Rockhill, who left a record of the tribe to the Smithsonian Institution.

The customs of the To-Runs prove that woman's invasion of industry, her determination to "live her own life," is not a development of modern civilization. For among these primitive peoples the "weaker sex" is emancipated to the point of domination of the male.

The To-Runs live in a strip of wooded and hill country and are an agricultural and nomadic people. Their houses are made of timber and mud and their industries are simple and few. They make their own clothes and the embroidered shoes they wear. Both women and men smoke a herb resembling tobacco. The tribe has its own language, but it is not written, and must be further studied before its sources can be determined.

Mixture of Many Races
Scientists here believe the To-Runs and associated tribes have been lost in the heart of Asia for centuries and are a curious mingling of many races. By the characteristics of the peoples they are convinced that the Yellow River region was one of the racial battlegrounds of the early Asiatic migrations.

Wulson found the To-Runs after establishing a headquarters more than 600 miles from a railroad and a trip up the Yellow River on rafts of yak skins. They live north of the small Singing River.

Just how the women of the tribe gained their ascendancy, Wulson had not yet determined, but he and his associates believe that a further study of the tribal legends may solve the riddle.

He reports one astonishing female trait, however. The women pay no attention to increasing years, welcome, in fact, the coming of old age.

Old Age No Terrors
Because they are not dependent upon personal and physical charms to maintain their hold upon the men of the tribe, they refuse to capitulate to time, he says, and, rather, turn the years to their own advantage.

The diaries of Rockhill furnish even more light upon the strange Amazonian customs which prevail in the Yellow River country. Divorce and free love are common, he says, and some women refuse to marry at all. If they have sufficient property, they may bring up as many children as result from passing attachments.

Rockhill contends this custom is a result of natural conditions. In the To-Run section, agricultural land is scarce, and few families can be raised. As a result polyandry is permitted and temporary marriages recognized whether they be for six months, six weeks or six days.

Many Uncles; Any Father
The offsprings of these marriages treat as father anyone whom their mothers teach them to recognize as such. Other husbands are the "uncles" of the children. Family names are unknown, and the child is often spoken of as the son or daughter of such and such a woman.

The industrial domination of women, however, usually does not begin until after marriage. She is sold by her parents, but immediately upon entering the home of her husband she no longer is the slave, but the master.

No buying or selling is done except by her, or with her consent. She takes charge of the rude family exchequer and all the affairs of the household.

In some portions of the To-Run country, the hat-choosing festival, a sexual rite, is permitted as it is among many Moslems, Mongol, and Tibetan tribes.

Choosing a Hat
During the two or three days that the ceremony continues, a man may carry off the hat of any girl or woman he meets in the temple grounds and she becomes, without further ado, his temporary wife.

Some of the customs of the To-Runs, the Rockhill diaries point out, are barbaric in the extreme. In many localities the remains of the dead are exposed on the hillsides in places selected by the priests. If the body is quickly eaten by beasts or birds of prey, it proves the righteousness of the deceased.

Crime is prevalent, and even the gravest offense is pardoned upon payment of a fixed sum.

Compressed bricks of tea, one of the articles of daily consumption, are used as a medium of exchange.

The highest price in tea is placed upon the life of a priest—sometimes as much as 200 bricks. The lowest value is placed on the life of a foreigner, which sometimes is set at two or three bricks.

Recall Myths
The ascendancy of the female, however, remains the custom which interests American scientists the most, recalling as they do the Greek myths of the followers of Diana and the fabled Amazons of the Asia Minor country. They can't explain it. Dr. Rockhill said:

"By what means these women gained such a complete ascendancy, how they have made their mastery so complete to a race of lawless barbarians, who, but unwillingly, submit to the authority of their chief, is a problem well worth considering."

But the findings in the To-Run country do prove one thing—that Miss Bloomer, predecessor of the bicycle girl of the nineties and pioneer in the modern revolt, wasn't such an advanced and shocking person as our fathers once believed.

RHUBARB IS IN SEASON

Rhubarb, or pie plant, is so commonly grown everywhere that it hardly needs any comment. It is especially good for use in the springtime and forms a fine base to combine with strawberries, raspberries and other mild fruits when canning time comes. To can two quarts of rhubarb with one quart of berries use sugar as usual; if it is liked rich, plenty of sugar; the fruit will be hard to tell from the entire berries when canned, as the rhubarb has a way of being swallowed up in the flavor of the more delicate fruit.

As canned, or conserve, or preserves, the two combine equally well. Those who enjoy greens tell us that the addition of a few leaves of rhubarb adds much to the kettle of spinach or mustard and beet greens.

Rhubarb Conserve.—Take two pounds each of sugar and rhubarb, two oranges, one lemon, one-half a box of raisins—the seedless variety—one small pineapple and a cupful or two of nut meats. Cut up the rhubarb, add the sugar and set it away over night. Cut the orange and lemon into bits, excluding the seeds; cook with the raisins and rhubarb until thick; add the nuts just before taking off. Pour into glasses and seal when cold with paraffin.

Rhubarb Pie.—Cut the rhubarb into small pieces; do not peel, if tender, as the beautiful color lies in the skin. Fill the lined pie tin with the fruit; add a tablespoonful of flour, well mixed with one-half cupful or more of sugar; add bits of butter and a grating of nutmeg or the juice of an orange and a bit of the rind, if liked. Cover with top crust and bake in a moderate oven.

Served as a sauce for a supper or luncheon dish, stewed rhubarb is most tasty. Add the sugar when the fruit is cooked, as it takes less to sweeten.

Honey Tea Cakes.—Take one cupful of honey, one-half cupful of sour cream, two eggs, one-half cupful of butter, two cupfuls of flour, a scant one-half teaspoonful of soda and one teaspoonful of cream of tartar. Bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven.

SAYS KIDNEYS CLOG AND NEED FLUSHING

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water — you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

SAYS KIDNEYS CLOG AND NEED FLUSHING

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water — you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH OF ACCEPTANCE

THE President's speech of acceptance is arousing comment. We consider it a forceful, plain spoken, common sense address. The President does not attempt to climb to any oratorical heights, but calmly presents his facts and figures. It abounds in Coolidge phraseology.

"In the history of our country," says Coolidge, "is recorded the public services rendered by the Republican party for more than three score years. That is secure."

He presents in graphic language the history of our country as of March, 1921. Only two years after the armistice we were still technically in a state of war. An enormous debt had been contracted standing at about $24,000,000,000, of which more than $7,000,000,000 was in short-time obligations without any provision for payment. Government bonds were below par. Demobilization and liquidation remained to be completed. Transportation was crippled. Banks were filled with frozen assets. Interest was high, capital scarce. These are but a few of the major problems engrossing the administration for solution.

Then came an era of achievement. A budget system was enacted and resulted in tremendous savings. The annual cost of government was reduced. In three years the public debt was reduced $2,750,000,000 and it means an annual saving in interest of more than $120,000,000. Short time obligations were refunded or paid. Internal revenue taxes were reduced twice. Government bonds increased in value.

More than 40 per cent of debts due from foreign countries have been liquidated. "These settlements," says the President very distinctly, "are not only stupendous financial transactions, but demonstrations of the most profound nature of international good faith and the dominion over international relations of moral power."

The Army and Navy has been reduced to a peace-time basis. A great revival of industry took place, which is now spreading to agriculture. Most generous laws for the relief of disabled veterans have been enacted, and the Veterans' Bureau established. Restricted immigration is in force. This is not an offensive but a purely defensive action.

"By means of a protective tariff American agriculture, labor, and industry have been saved from the menace of having their great home market destroyed through the dumping upon it of a flood of foreign products."

If that isn't constructive work, building on an enduring foundation, building for all the people, then we wonder what kind of a program would appeal to a conscientious citizen.

The cry is made in some quarters that the whole issue of the presidential campaign is honest government. The President takes up this phase in characteristic manner when he states that "in all my studies of political history I can not recall an administration which was desirous of a dishonest and corrupt government that, for the purpose of checking extravagance, ever undertook to introduce a budget system, to cut down taxes, to purge the pay rolls, to make enormous reductions in the public debt, and to lay firmer foundations for the peace of the world. That is not the way of dishonesty. The Government is sound. But individuals charged with wrongdoing are being prosecuted. The people of this country hate corruption. They know my position. They know the law will be enforced."

And as to his course in matters of wrong doing charged and brought to his attention, the President states very plainly that "wherever there have been suspicions of guilt, involving members of any party, I have caused them to be investigated and presentation made to the grand jury. If the evidence warranted, those suspected of crime have been indicted; and without favor, but without malice, they will be tried on charges returned against them."

The foreign policy of the United States is stated most clearly by the President in language that should be embodied in every American text book of civics. He states in concise language: "The foreign policy of America can best be described by one word—peace. Our actions have always proclaimed our peaceful desires, but never more evidently than now. We covet no territory; we support no threatening military array; we harbor no hostile intent. We have pursued, are pursuing, and shall continue to pursue with untiring devotion the cause of peace."

"I want the people of America to be able to work less for the Government and more for themselves," says the President very plainly.

"I favor economy that the taxes of everybody may be reduced."

"The Government of the United States represents the public. It is its business to protect and advance the general welfare. It wants everyone treated fairly, and expects everyone to do his duty. It wants to establish justice, equity, and mercy. It desires to see adequate returns both for capital invested and for work done. It believes in protecting health and in cherishing education. It is opposed to the domination of either wealth or organized minorities and it is committed to the free rule of all the people."

BUY FROM YOUR HOME MERCHANT

THE Bemidji Daily Pioneer publishes a timely editorial which is being reproduced in many papers. It follows:

Drastic editorials appealing to civic loyalty, talks on the duty of citizens to home institutions and appeals through civic organizations will not accomplish half the results that will be brought about by the mouth to mouth transmission of the various experiences of Bemidji housewives during the past month.

Bemidji now has victims of the tie swindle, in which three shoddy ties, easily duplicated at less money in local stores, are sold through the mails; the fur swindle, in which rabbit skins cleverly dyed were plumed off as imported furs; the stocking swindle in which very inferior goods have been sold at a high price, and the shirt swindle, through which the men of some families will have to wear patched shirts and the women will carry the memory of being badly fleeced. It is these concrete incidents of the folly of listening to the smooth stories of swindling salesmen, who have no guarantee to back them, no reputation to maintain, no taxes to pay in the community and are often advance agents of a gang of organized thieves, that will soon cure a community of the evil of neglecting the home merchants.

Big Hat Sale Was Downfall of an Ad Man

By GEORGE ELMER COBB

(© 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

"H'E'S a comer, sure!" declared Mr. Earle, manager of the furniture section of the Famous department store at Rockton.

"Yes, they say he's a crackerjack! Going to double up trade in a month and ruin all business rivals."

These two townsmen casually echoed what was constantly current among the excited and expectant employees of the great mercantile establishment under general discussion.

The proprietor of the Famous, Ira Stein, was a plunger. He had inherited some money and had started the biggest department store ever known in the district. Already there was the Enterprise, which filled the local bill very comfortably, but Stein was a pusher and hoped to soon corner all the trade of the section. He had done some bold and amazing things, he drew custom, and Merle Wharton, his young manager, had carried out some bright ideas. Then Stein, happening to visit a friend who had made a great success in the big city, came back to Rockton with more expansive ideas than ever.

"The whole essence of your proposition, Stein," advised his friend, "is having a live wire up-to-date advertising man."

"Where will I get one?" questioned Stein.

"They're hard to get," was the reply. "The good ones are all grabbed for. The bad ones are worse than no good."

One day there alighted from the train a brisk, bustling young man, who might have suggested the circus spider or three card monte man to the sophisticated.

It took the newcomer, who named himself Roger Lane, about an hour to convince the merchant that he was the one man in the world who knew how to get all the customers and money the district had.

"I must have a free hand," declared Lane.

"Oh, certainly, certainly. I leave it to you," Stein hastened to say.

"Expense must be no object. I'm going to wake up this dead town."

There was one man who demurred at the skyrocket schemes of the newcomer when he had outlined his plans. This was Merle Wharton. He was a valuable employee of the house, but Lane was peremptory.

"He'd kill my good work with his conservative, back-country ideas," Lane told Stein, so Wharton was told to go.

"It's all right, Mr. Stein," he said. "Better an understanding now than a squabble. If I am not in accord with your new business policy I would be useless to you. I shall tell you, however, that I shall go over to your rival, the Enterprise."

"That's all right!" bobbed the chipper Lane. "There will be no Enterprise in a month. We shall have all the business."

Wharton was sorry to leave the Famous. He had been courting pretty Nettie Duane, the store stenographer. A senseless quarrel had come up. She was miffed, he was proud and they had exchanged only a cold formal bow for the past two weeks.

The Enterprise was glad to get Wharton. His steady-going, honest business methods were in accord with those of the proprietor.

The "Comer" had spread himself. He had a great two-faced clock set at the edge of the walk in front of the store. Then he sent out a band of music along the country roads to attract the farmers. He had a grand fireworks exhibition in front of the store. He gave away one thousand clay pipes, so the children might blow bubbles.

Alas, for the crude ideas of rural Rockton! The crowds came, but not to buy. The big clock post obstructed the sidewalk space allowed by ordinance and had to be removed. The band of music caused a runaway and the store was sued for damages. A stray rocket set fire to a barn and there was another bill to pay.

"I say, Wharton," remarked the proprietor of the Enterprise one day, "what do you make of this?"

He handed Wharton a typewritten page without date or signature. It read:

"A good friend gives you this useful hint: The Famous is arranging to open the season with Japanese panama hats at fifty-nine cents. This, as you know, is ridiculous. When they get wet they are all out of shape. Work up an honest bargain hat sale on real good hats, and you will win."

On Monday came the big fifty-nine-cent hat sale. There came up a rain-storm. Disconsolate wearers of Japanese panamas trailed by the Famous in drooping trim, ready to mob the place.

Next day came the Simon-pure hat sale at the Enterprise. The papers said something about "shoddy goods," a duped public took up the cudgel and the "Comer" came never again to the Famous.

"I encouraged that Mr. Lane, just to find out how I could pay him off for getting you discharged," confessed Nettie to Wharton when they were reconciled.

"It was you who sent us that tip, then?" questioned the happy lover, and kissed her fondly when she flushed with conscious guilt.

Knew the Owner

There was nothing the professor d's liked so much as to see the ignorant public get false information—especially on the subject of ornithology. So when he observed that an incorrect scientific name had been attached to a cage of birds at the park zoo, he summoned the attendant.

"Don't you know that these birds do not belong to the family Paridae?" he asked.

"Sure, I do," replied the attendant.

"The zoo bought 'em last week."

Baby Elephant as Pet

Waiting to give a more substantial wedding present than furniture or cut glass, Bernard Rabe of Newark, N. J., gave his daughter, Elsie, when she was married to Carl Strohm, a baby elephant. He told his daughter, as she sailed for a honeymoon trip to Europe, that the animal, besides being a pet, is a good investment, for it could always be sold for more than it cost; and as the elephant lives for several hundred years it will be in the family for some generations.

Earthquake Cooled Water

Water in the bay of Tokyo is colder this year than last, according to observers of the Marine Products institute, the earthquake of last September being blamed for a marked drop in temperature. The lower temperature of water along the coasts near Tokyo is expected to handicap such industries as fishing for shellfish and gathering seaweeds, in which the workers are obliged to spend hours standing in water.

Twenty-five delegates will constitute a quorum, providing 12 of the lodges are represented. There are now 23 lodges in the association.

All annual meetings will be conducted on the first day of the convention.

Resolutions were adopted thanking the Duluth lodge, local officers, the Duluth newspapers, Lady Elks, and members of the convention committee for their co-operation.

Act on Aubin's Death

A resolution of condolence was adopted on the death of Oscar A. Aubin of Hibbing, who was killed in an automobile accident Friday, and a copy was sent to the family.

President Regan announced that 800 new members were added by the state lodges in Minnesota during the last year and that the delegation from this state at the national convention at Boston last month was one of the largest at the gathering.

A post-convention feature will be a boat cruise to Port Arthur. The boat will leave at 4 p. m. Sunday and return to Duluth Tuesday morning.

Knew the Owner

There was nothing the professor did's liked so much as to see the ignorant public get false information—especially on the subject of ornithology. So when he observed that an incorrect scientific name had been attached to a cage of birds at the park zoo, he summoned the attendant.

"Don't you know that these birds do not belong to the family Paradedidae?" he asked.

"Sure, I do," replied the attendant. "The zoo bought 'em last week."

Baby Elephant as Pet

Wanting to give a more substantial wedding present than furniture or cut glass, Bernard Rube of Newark, N. J., gave his daughter, Elsie, when she was married to Carl Strohm, a baby elephant. He told his daughter, as she sailed for a honeymoon trip to Europe, that the animal, besides being a pet, is a good investment, for it could always be sold for more than its cost; and as the elephant lives for several hundred years it will be in the family for some generations.

Earthquake Cooled Water

Water in the bay of Tokyo is colder this year than last, according to observers of the Marine Products institute, the earthquake of last September being blamed for a marked drop in temperature. The lower temperature of water along the coasts near Tokyo is expected to handicap such industries as fishing for shellfish and gathering seaweeds, in which the workers are obliged to spend hours standing in water.

Pola Negri in a scene from the Paramount Picture 'Men'

Pola Negri Puts Herself on Auction Block in Picture

Slave markets of antiquity have their counterparts in modern life, according to Dimitri Buchowetzki, whose production "Men," starring Pola Negri, contains an illustration of how women are bought and sold today.

Filmed by the Russian director as his first American made picture for Paramount, "Men" contains the story of the amazing adventures of a French girl, "Cleo," who begins life as a waitress in a cheap wine shop and rises to fame as a dancer in Paris.

The role of "Cleo" is played by Pola Negri. Surrounded by a host of men who strive to win her favors by fair means or foul.

Chosen to support Pola Negri in this powerful picture of life among certain sections of European society which is showing at the New Park tonight and Sunday, are well known players such as Robert W. Frazer, Robert Ederon, Joseph Swickard, Monti Collins, Gino Corrado and Edgar Norion.

Dimitri Buchowetzki produced "Men" from his own original story, which was scenarized by Paul Bern.

JACKIE COOGAN IN LITTLE ROBINSON CRUSOE

New Coogan Film Hailed as His Best

What has turned out to be Jackie Coogan's most entertaining picture will be seen at the Lyceum Theatre opening Sunday. Its title is "Little Robinson Crusoe," written especially for the little star by Willard Mack, who has let his imagination run rampant in working out a plausible and suitable story for Jackie.

The story has to do with Jackie, who plays Mickie Hogan, orphaned son of a San Francisco police hero. He sets out from San Francisco on a tramp steamer bound for Australia to visit his aunt. When they reach the tropics, however, a typhoon wrecks and sinks the ship, taking down all on board with the exception of Mickey and a black cat, who drift away on an improvised raft and strike the shores of a tropical isle.

Then come cannibals, and Satan, in all his demoniac glory, after he beholds the doings of Little Robinson on the tropical man-eating island, will hide his face in shame. For Jackie starts the ball rolling and keeps everyone busier than a vagrant pup with a pedigree herd of fleas parking on him.

Chas. Jones at Lyceum tonight in "Second Hand Love"

Substantially indicating the artistic rise of the motion picture, "Second Hand Love," the Charles Jones star production for William Fox that opened at the Lyceum Theatre last night, afforded interesting entertainment with a fine display of interpretative talent.

Charles Jones is seen in the role of a happy-go-lucky itinerant tinker called Andy.

Other players who have absorbing cinema sketches were Ruth Dwyer, leading lady for Mr. Jones, Charles Coleman and Frank Weed. Last showings tonight.

"Sugar Trees"

The sugar of the Douglas fir has a decided value from the scientific and chemical point of view, its present price being about $70 per pound. But to most people the chief interest of its discovery lies in the fact that nature has somehow contrived to withhold the secret of the "sugar trees" from man's prying eyes for so long.

Odd Reason for Cantata

One of Bach's cantatas was written solely as an argument. His wife thought that he drank too much coffee, so the composer wrote the cantata in praise of his favorite drink.

Obelisks Misnamed

The name "Cleopatra's Needles" is improperly given to two famous obelisks erected by Thothmes III, at On (Heliopolis) about 1500 B. C., and brought to Alexandria by Augustus about 23 B. C., to add to the beauty of the city. One of these granite monoliths now stands on the Victoria embankment in London, while the other is in Central park, New York.

Power of Eagle's Grip

Two brothers of West Boothbay, Maine, while in a boat, picked up a white-headed eagle that had been shot through one of its wings, leaving it helpless in the water. They put the bird in the dory and he gripped the wood so tightly that they had to pry its talons open to make the transfer from one boat to another. They called a veterinary surgeon in an attempt to save the bird's life.

Northern Pacific Trains a Pleasure To Ride On

"The road of super-service" is the way P. E. Harris, prominent Seattle business man, designates the Northern Pacific. Mr. Harris writes:

"Once more it has been my pleasure to have completed another trip over the Northern Pacific and while I always have known the road maintained the best of service in every department, I take this opportunity of saying it might properly be classed as the road of super-service."

"My heartiest best wishes go with the hope that the road will continue to grow in popularity as well as in prosperity." Each day the Northern Pacific makes new friends and retains its old. Those "famously good" meals—Northern Pacific dining cars operate all the way through between Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and the North Pacific Coast—club cars, barber, bath, valet, library and other facilities mark this line as one of America's leaders. Low summer fares to Yellowstone Park and Pacific Coast points now in effect. Ask the local Northern Pacific representative for details. (87)

THE BRAINERD DAILY DISPATCH

Republican Women Start National Campaign

Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice chairman of the Republican National committee, has just announced the opening of the National headquarters of the women's bureau of the campaign on the second floor of the Wrigley building, Chicago. Eastern headquarters have been opened in New York city.

The Women Voters Speak

The voices of the women of America are making themselves heard. From Maine to California, with a unison which is infectious, they are saying, "We want Coolidge and Dawes."

In the weeks which have elapsed since the Republican party nominated its standard bearers, the women have been weighing these candidates and their respect has gone out to these men, who represent the best qualities in American manhood.

All signs show that the women of the country have been weighing the Republican platform and that its pledges have won their support.

Women know that the running of the nation's business is simply house-keeping on a national scale. They know that there is nothing mysterious about it. They want the government to be managed as simply and as inexpensively as they manage their own homes. The women have heartily approved the budget system which the Republicans have established at Washington. They were quick to endorse the reduction of taxes by $1,250,000,000 per annum and the curtailment of public expenditures without in the slightest disturbing business. When the Republicans stated:

"We pledge ourselves to the progressive reduction of taxes of ALL THE PEOPLE as rapidly as may be done with due regard for the essential expenditures of the government administered with rigid economy," the women know that the country would be safe if Republican candidates were elected to office.

The platform's promise to continue the party's solicitude for all those suffering any disability as a result of service to the United States in time of war was particularly appealing to the women.

Pledges of law enforcement, the quest to the states to promptly consider the Child Labor amendment, the declaration for high standards of wages, working and living conditions for women workers, and a score of other progressive planks have won the support of the women.

Their minds at rest about the program of the Republican party if elected to run the government for the next four years, the women have started their campaign. They want Coolidge and Dawes and they are working to get a record-breaking number of women to the polls next November.

"JUST TWENTY-ONE"

One of the important factors in the election of the man who is to be the next President of the United States, will be the young men and women who are just old enough to vote.

Some of these first voters are wage earners, others are still in college. They share a common responsibility, that of expressing the views and wishes of the youth of America.

Here and there when a young man or woman can be persuaded to talk about it, they are heard to say that they want to keep President Coolidge on the job at Washington for the next four years. They can do it.

COOLIDGE CHOICE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Mrs. A. T. Hert Praises Child Labor Policy.

"What the future holds for the wage earner and the wage earner's family, is of vital interest to the women of this country," Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice chairman of the Republican National committee, stated in a recent interview. "Therefore, the promises of the political parties on the subject of labor are of the greatest importance. When we reflect that there are eight and one-half million women wage earners including two million married women wage earners who are directly affected by labor legislation, as well as the wives of the laboring men who are interested in the protection afforded labor, the importance of the question can be plainly seen.

"Every woman in America is interested in the question of child labor and wants to see the children of this country safeguarded during the most important years of their lives.

"A fair deal to labor was assured by the Republican party in its platform accepted by the national convention in Cleveland. The platform pledges continued progressive reduction of taxes, rigid economy in government and promises protection against undue exactions.

"To the Republican party goes the credit of being the leader in the campaign for national legislation to protect the children. It was the party that enacted the first federal child labor law," Mrs. Hert said. "The Republican platform commended congress for its prompt adoption of the recommendation of President Coolidge authorizing congress to pass protective child labor legislation. It also urged the prompt consideration of the amendment by the legislatures of the various states.

"This law, when ratified, will afford nation-wide protection for child workers.

"The average woman of today is worker. She either works to support herself and those dependent upon her or she works to make the family income buy as many comforts for her family as possible.

"The last federal census showed that out of 572 occupations, only 35 did not have women workers. Women have entered the realm of industry and they must be carefully protected. The action of the Republican platform in favoring high standards of wage, working and living conditions among women has received widespread commendation.

"The election of President Coolidge and Mr. Dawes, supported by a Republican congress, will mean continued prosperity for the average home."

WOMEN OUT TO BEAT 1920 VOTE

Women are getting down to the business of voting.

Statistics show that approximately 25 per cent of the women eligible to vote, actually voted in 1920. This means only about one out of every four.

In 1920 one state had 3,462,879 voting citizens, her total vote was 2,090,468. What about the 1,372,411 who did not vote?

The women's bureau of the Republican National committee, with headquarters in Chicago, has just issued an appeal to the women asking them to see that every eligible voter in their families goes to the polls on registration day.

Women are out to round up the "elvie slackers," and this means men as well as women.

Many Volcanic Craters in the United States

When we think of volcanoes we generally associate them with some foreign country, but here in our own domain we have within a comparatively restricted area a group of 63 volcanic craters. This is in Idaho and the place is called the "Craters of the Moon," because the landscape is so cold looking and so barren of vegetation that it resembles the landscape of the moon as it seems to us when viewed through a telescope. While it is barren it is not without color, for there is considerable variation in the tints of the ground which is covered with the "frozen" lava which flowed from these craters a few hundred years ago. There is one field which is called the Blue Dragon which is lava of a beautiful aureole tint and with a polish as if it had been varnished. There are cracks in the deposit at regular intervals and all of similar shape, which makes the mass resemble the scales of a great dragon. These volcanic mounds are of various heights and some of interesting formation, with considerable variation as to color. This field is about three miles wide and thirty long and has been recently dedicated to the purposes of a public park. While it is not exactly accessible, it is not a difficult place to get at and at the present time it is little known. It is located between Cary and Arco.

Rich Man Might Better Have Forgotten Penny

In his "Queer Things About London," Mr. C. G. Harper tells the following story:

On the north side of Piccadilly is that famous labyrinthine warren of exceedingly select bachelor chambers, dating from about 1804, and known to most people as "The Albany."

By the smart set who reside there, however, it is accounted absurd to speak or write of "The" Albany. If you perpetrate that grave error, you cannot be "one of us."

Albany has always been affected, as a place of residence, by men of rank and fashion. Herein dwelt the millionaire Baron Meyer de Rothschild, and coming from his luxurious chambers one day he dropped a penny on the pavement outside.

He sought long and anxiously for the coin; but vainly, for it had rolled down a grating. Resuming an upright position, he remarked sadly on the fleeting nature of riches. Meanwhile a pick-pocket had relieved him of his watch.

What the Dial Was For

"I see that you don't know how to tune this set," the friend observed, as he began adjusting the knobs. "But don't let that worry you, old man; we all have to learn, you know." Now, he continued, "did you notice the increased volume of sound as I turned the last dial? Just put the finishing touches on reception, as it were. Of course, one cannot teach you the whole game of reception at one sitting; but I will say this much—you would do well to pay particular attention to that dial if you want good quality and plenty of volume. That is one of the most sensitive controls. Condenser, I suppose?"

"No, Bill," replied the host. "You see, it is like this: I bored an extra hole in the panel by mistake and I put a knob there to hide it. It does not control anything, except the imagination."—Wireless Age.

The "One-Hoss" Shay

"My grandfather and grandmother once hired an antiquated four-wheeler, driven by a man even older than the cab, whose horse was a greater age than all of them combined, to pay a Sunday afternoon call in a London square nearby. On its funeral way from house to house, the bottom fell out of the cab, and as the aged man on the box was too deaf to hear the by no means unviolent expostulation of the hot-tempered old gentleman and the cries of his small and timid spouse, there was nothing for them to do but to run along inside. The laughter of those who gazed with an abandonment of joy at this most unusual sight must have done much to break the gloom of that early Victorian Sabbath."—From "Unwritten History," by Cosmo Hamilton.

Believed Part of It

The men and officers of the navy are known all over the world for their smart appearance, and it was for this reason that one of the officers on board a battleship was rather disgusted at the untidy appearance of a certain midshipman.

One morning the "middy" strolled into the wardrobe wearing a collar that was, to say the least of it, extremely soiled. This was too much for the officer and he decided to tackle the young man on the matter.

"Look here," he said, "you ought not to come in here wearing a filthy collar like that round your neck."

"Filthy, sir," replied the midshipman. "I assure you this collar was washed ashore only yesterday."

"I don't doubt that," was the quiet reply, "but from which wreck?"

New Dish

The young man who was accustomed to having an early breakfast every day was absent one morning, having gone to see his wife off on an early train.

Returning to the house some time later he said to the cook:

"Well, Jane, I have no spouse this morning."

"Tain't my fault, suh," she replied, indignantly. "I sho' cooked it fo' yuh. But you jes' wouldn't come eat it."

Bass Drummer Kept Time as He Won $1,000

By GEORGE ELMER COBB

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

BOOM-boom-boom-boom! Stridently out upon the air the measured beat of a big bass drum. Stalwart, free-armed, Jed Hawkins stood at his task as resolutely as a maestro at the baton stand.

Before him, propped in a low tree crotch, was a homemade sheet of music, its sparse notes big as eggs. This was his "score."

Over the neighboring fence old Seth Brown protruded his broad tanned face, set all in a capacious grin.

"What ye think yer doin', Jed?" he propounded.

"Practicing," was the terse, serious reply.

"You call that music!" derided Brown.

"Twill be, when it mixes in with the rest of the band."

"What band?"

"The village band—I've joined it. There's just as much system to a drum as there is to a flute."

Seth Brown went on his way, chuckling. He had a poor opinion of Jed Hawkins. In the first place, his pretty daughter, Nellie, liked Jed. In the next place, she had her pick of several richer swains.

"I'll admit Jed is stiddy," ruminated the practical old man, "but he's slow and poky."

"Slow but sure," was the way Nellie put it to herself. "Dear fellow! I'll wait fifty years for him, if I have to."

"A little extra money—everything counts," reflected patient, honest Jed. "The band gets four dollars a head an evening for playing at dances. Next winter it will be three times a week—boom-boom-boom-boom-boom! and Jed proceeded industriously to beat out the notes of his score.

"Well, dear," Nellie challenged him, and he turned to face his loyal sweetheart, bright-faced and cheery as usual—"how are you getting on?"

"I can play the whacks where they're marked to come in," explained Jed.

Nellie carried the town newspaper in her hand. This she opened and held it before the face of her lover, her dainty forefinger indicating a great black type advertisement.

"Look, dear," she directed, and Jed read it in his slow, accurate way.

"A thousand dollars reward," he said. "I'd find the child for nothing, if I could. Poor little tot! No clue, eh?"

"No," replied Nellie; "the paper says that Ida Strong has been kidnapped and probably carried to a distance. Her parents are frantic. Their only hope that, once they get safely in hiding, those who stole her will offer her for ransom."

"When is your first band playing?" asked Nellie, changing the subject.

"Saturday night. It isn't a very select dance, or I'd ask you to go. It's over at Jung's Corners. They're a rough lot around there, you know. Their shindigs generally break up in a row."

A great clumsy carryall conveyed the rural band over to Jung's Corners on Saturday evening.

When the last number was played they stored their instruments and accepted the invitation to supper from the proprietor of the place.

Jed was the first of the party to go after his instrument. When he got into the poorly-lighted storeroom he rolled his bulky drum near the door. A thin, piping wall proceeded from beyond a door in one corner of the room. Jed unslid the bolt.

"Gracious me!" he ejaculated, and well he might. In a wretched adjoining apartment a little child lay sobbing on a pallet.

"Ida Strong!" gasped Jed, and then he advanced towards the child. The light from the dancing hall permeated the room. "Don't you know me, Ida?"

"Oh, yes, sure I do!" palpitated the little one, putting up her thin, wavering hands. "Oh, Mr. Hawkins! Please take me away from here. I've been locked up for a week, and I heard them say they were going to take me farther from home tomorrow."

"Do just as I tell you," whispered Jed, an exciting thought coming into his mind.

As the cornet player appeared and took up his instrument Jed sang out:

"Help me get this clumsy old baggage of mine into the wagon, will you? Go easy—that's it," and he gave a great breath of relief as the big drum was hoisted aboard the carryall.

As the horses reached the top of the last hill overlooking the home town he pulled the drum towards him. He unstrung its great moon-faced top.

"All right, little one!" he hailed, and the child he had secreted in the big, roomy drum put out her arms and climbed into his lap.

His companions in the carryall stared at child and man in open-mouthed wonder. Their eyes goggled as he told of his unique plan to rescue her.

"You see, some of that lawless gang down at the Corners had her hidden away in Jung's place," explained Jed. "And you get a thousand dollars!" shouted the leader of the band.

"Yes, the reward is yours," chorused half a dozen voices.

"Not so slow and poky, after all," commented Farmer Brown, when he came to know that Jed Hawkins had fairly won the price of a home for his pretty daughter, Nellie.

A Far-Sighted Banker's Idea of Advertising

by FESTUS J. WADE

President, MERCANTILE TRUST COMPANY of St. Louis

Do I believe that a banker considers reputation, as developed by advertising, in extending credit? There probably are bankers who will give a negative answer to this question and believe they are giving the right answer.

But let those bankers be approached by a credit-seeking national advertiser, who has established his name, therefore a market for his goods, and see what happens. In nine cases out of ten the fact that those goods have become a household "buy-word" will be the greatest factor in granting the credit.

The banker himself will have become subconsciously sold on the firm, through its consistent advertising. He will say, "Oh, yes, that's a big house—well known, good reputation," etc., not realizing that it was advertising that did the work.

The next minute he may be approached by a new company, trying to make its name, and turn down the loan because too much of it is to be spent for the purpose of advertising. In the first application he has helped the big advertiser to cash in on his reputation, and in the second was depriving the newcomer of the right to build a reputation. This is only a hypothetical case, and I am glad to say I don't believe it happens as often as it did in the past. Just as we learn something new every day, so every day another banker wakes up to the underlying power and pull of advertising.

Republican Women Start National Campaign

Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice chairman of the Republican National committee, has just announced the opening of the National headquarters of the women's bureau of the campaign on the second floor of the Wrigley building, Chicago. Eastern headquarters have been opened in New York city.

The Women Voters Speak

The voices of the women of America are making themselves heard. From Maine to California, with a unison which is infectious, they are saying, "We want Coolidge and Dawes."

In the weeks which have elapsed since the Republican party nominated its standard bearers, the women have been weighing these candidates and their respect has gone out to these men, who represent the best qualities in American manhood.

All signs show that the women of the country have been weighing the Republican platform and that its pledges have won their support.

Women know that the running of the nation's business is simply house-keeping on a national scale. They know that there is nothing mysterious about it. They want the government to be managed as simply and as inexpensively as they manage their own homes. The women have heartily approved the budget system which the Republicans have established at Washington. They were quick to endorse the reduction of taxes by $1,250,000,000 per annum and the curtailment of public expenditures without in the slightest disturbing business. When the Republicans stated:

"We pledge ourselves to the progressive reduction of taxes of ALL THE PEOPLE as rapidly as may be done with due regard for the essential expenditures of the government administered with rigid economy," the women know that the country would be safe if Republican candidates were elected to office.

The platform's promise to continue the party's solicitude for all those suffering any disability as a result of service to the United States in time of war was particularly appealing to the women.

Pledges of law enforcement, the quest to the states to promptly consider the Child Labor amendment, the declaration for high standards of wages, working and living conditions for women workers, and a score of other progressive planks have won the support of the women.

Their minds at rest about the program of the Republican party if elected to run the government for the next four years, the women have started their campaign. They want Coolidge and Dawes and they are working to get a record-breaking number of women to the polls next November.

"JUST TWENTY-ONE"

One of the important factors in the election of the man who is to be the next President of the United States, will be the young men and women who are just old enough to vote.

Some of these first voters are wage earners, others are still in college. They share a common responsibility, that of expressing the views and wishes of the youth of America.

Here and there when a young man or woman can be persuaded to talk about it, they are heard to say that they want to keep President Coolidge on the job at Washington for the next four years. They can do it.

COOLIDGE CHOICE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Mrs. A. T. Hert Praises Child Labor Policy.

"What the future holds for the wage earner and the wage earner's family, is of vital interest to the women of this country," Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice chairman of the Republican National committee, stated in a recent interview. "Therefore, the promises of the political parties on the subject of labor are of the greatest importance. When we reflect that there are eight and one-half million women wage earners including two million married women wage earners who are directly affected by labor legislation, as well as the wives of the laboring men who are interested in the protection afforded labor, the importance of the question can be plainly seen.

"Every woman in America is interested in the question of child labor and wants to see the children of this country safeguarded during the most important years of their lives.

"A fair deal to labor was assured by the Republican party in its platform accepted by the national convention in Cleveland. The platform pledges continued progressive reduction of taxes, rigid economy in government and promises protection against undue exactions.

Many Volcanic Craters in the United States

When we think of volcanoes we generally associate them with some foreign country, but here in our own domain we have within a comparatively restricted area a group of 63 volcanic craters. This is in Idaho and the place is called the "Craters of the Moon," because the landscape is so cold looking and so barren of vegetation that it resembles the landscape of the moon as it seems to us when viewed through a telescope. While it is barren it is not without color, for there is considerable variation in the tints of the ground which is covered with the "frozen" lava which flowed from these craters a few hundred years ago. There is one field which is called the Blue Dragon which is lava of a beautiful aureole tint and with a polish as if it had been varnished. There are cracks in the deposit at regular intervals and all of similar shape, which makes the mass resemble the scales of a great dragon. These volcanic mounds are of various heights and some of interesting formation, with considerable variation as to color. This field is about three miles wide and thirty long and has been recently dedicated to the purposes of a public park. While it is not exactly accessible, it is not a difficult place to get at and at the present time it is little known. It is located between Cary and Arco.

Rich Man Might Better Have Forgotten Penny

In his "Queer Things About London," Mr. C. G. Harper tells the following story:

On the north side of Piccadilly is that famous labyrinthine warren of exceedingly select bachelor chambers, dating from about 1804, and known to most people as "The Albany."

By the smart set who reside there, however, it is accounted absurd to speak or write of "The Albany." If you perpetrate that grave error, you cannot be "one of us."

Albany has always been affected, as a place of residence, by men of rank and fashion. Herein dwelt the millionaire Baron Meyer de Rothschild, and coming from his luxurious chambers one day he dropped a penny on the pavement outside.

He sought long and anxiously for the coin; but vainly, for it had rolled down a grating. Resuming an upright position, he remarked sadly on the fleeting nature of riches. Meanwhile a pick-pocket had relieved him of his watch.

What the Dial Was For

"I see that you don't know how to tune this set," the friend observed, as he began adjusting the knobs. "But don't let that worry you, old man; we all have to learn, you know. Now," he continued, "did you notice the increased volume of sound as I turned the last dial? Just put the finishing touches on reception, as it were. Of course, one cannot teach you the whole game of reception at one sitting; but I will say this much—you would do well to pay particular attention to that dial if you want good quality and plenty of volume. That is one of the most sensitive controls. Condenser, I suppose?"

"No, Bill," replied the host. "You see, it is like this: I bored an extra hole in the panel by mistake and I put a knob there to hide it. It does not control anything, except the imagination."—Wireless Age.

The "One-Hoss" Shay

"My grandfather and grandmother once hired an antiquated four-wheeler, driven by a man even older than the cab, whose horse was a greater age than all of them combined, to pay a Sunday afternoon call in a London square nearby. On its funeral way from house to house, the bottom fell out of the cab, and as the aged man on the box was too deaf to hear the by no means unviolent expostulation of the hot-tempered old gentleman, and the cries of his small and timid spouse, there was nothing for them to do but to run along inside. The laughter of those who gazed with an abandonment of joy at this most unusual sight must have done much to break the gloom of that early Victorian Sabbath."—From "Unwritten History," by Cosmo Hamilton.

Believed Part of It

The men and officers of the navy are known all over the world for their smart appearance, and it was for this reason that one of the officers on board a battleship was rather disgusted at the untidy appearance of a certain midshipman.

One morning the "middy" strolled into the wardroom wearing a collar that was, to say the least of it, extremely soiled. This was too much for the officer and he decided to tackle the young man on the matter.

"Look here," he said, "you ought not to come in here wearing a filthy collar like that round your neck."

"Filthy, sir," replied the midshipman. "I assure you this collar was washed ashore only yesterday."

"I don't doubt that," was the quiet reply, "but from which wreck?"

New Dish

The young man who was accustomed to having an early breakfast every day was absent one morning, having gone to see his wife off on an early train.

Returning to the house some time later he said to the cook:

"Well, Jane, I have no spouse this morning."

"Tain't my fault, suh," she replied, indignantly. "I sho' cooked it fo' yuh. But you jes' wouldn't come eat it."

Bass Drummer Kept Time as He Won $1,000

By GEORGE ELMER COBB

(E. 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

BOOM-boom-boom-boom! Stridently out upon the air the measured beat of a big bass drum. Stalwart, free-armed, Jed Hawkins stood at his task as resolutely as a maestro at the baton stand.

Before him, propped in a low tree crotch, was a homemade sheet of music, its sparse notes big as eggs. This was his "score."

Over the neighboring fence old Seth Brown protruded his broad tanned face, set all in a capacious grin.

"What ye think yer doin', Jed?" he propounded.

"Practicing," was the terse, serious reply.

"You call that music!" derided Brown.

"Twill be, when it mixes in with the rest of the band."

"What band?"

"The village band—I've joined it. There's just as much system to a drum as there is to a flute."

Seth Brown went on his way, chuckling. He had a poor opinion of Jed Hawkins. In the first place, his pretty daughter, Nellie, liked Jed. In the next place, she had her pick of several richer swains.

"I'll admit Jed is stiddy," ruminated the practical old man, "but he's slow and poky."

"Slow but sure," was the way Nellie put it to herself. "Dear fellow! I'll wait fifty years for him, if I have to."

"A little extra money—everything counts," reflected patient, honest Jed. "The band gets four dollars a head an evening for playing at dances. Next winter it will be three times a week—boom-boom-boom-boom! and Jed proceeded industriously to beat out the notes of his score.

"Well, dear," Nellie challenged him, and he turned to face his loyal sweetheart, bright-faced and cheery as usual—"how are you getting on?"

"I can play the whacks where they're marked to come in," explained Jed.

Nellie carried the town newspaper in her hand. This she opened and held it before the face of her lover, her dainty forehead indicating a great black type advertisement.

"Look, dear," she directed, and Jed read it in his slow, accurate way.

"A thousand dollars reward," he said. "I'd find the child for nothing, if I could. Poor little tot! No clue, eh?"

"No," replied Nellie; "the paper says that Ida Strong has been kidnaped and probably carried to a distance. Her parents are frantic. Their only hope that, once they get safely in hiding, those who stole her will offer her for ransom."

"When is your first band playing?" asked Nellie, changing the subject.

"Saturday night. It isn't a very select dance, or I'd ask you to go. It's over at Jung's Corners. They're a rough lot around there, you know. Their shindigs generally break up in a row."

A great clumsy carryall conveyed the rural band over to Jung's Corners on Saturday evening.

When the last number was played they stored their instruments and accepted the invitation to supper from the proprietor of the place.

Jed was the first of the party to go after his instrument. When he got into the poorly-lighted storeroom he rolled his bulky drum near the door. A thin, piping wall proceeded from beyond a door in one corner of the room. Jed unsaid the bolt.

"Gracious me!" he ejaculated, and well he might. In a wretched adjoining apartment a little child lay sobbing on a pallet.

"Ida Strong?" gasped Jed, and then he advanced towards the child. The light from the dancing hall permeated the room. "Don't you know me, Ida?"

"Oh, yes, sure I do!" palpitated the little one, putting up her thin, wavering hands. "Oh, Mr. Hawkins! Please take me away from here. I've been locked up for a week, and I heard them say they were going to take me farther from home tomorrow."

"Do just as I tell you," whispered Jed, an exciting thought coming into his mind.

As the cornet player appeared and took up his instrument Jed sang out:

"Help me get this clumsy old baggage of mine into the wagon, will you? Go easy—that's it," and he gave a great breath of relief as the big drum was hoisted aboard the carryall.

As the horses reached the top of the last hill overlooking the home town he pulled the drum towards him. He unstrung its great moon-faced top.

"All right, little one!" he hailed, and the child he had secreted in the big, roomy drum put out her arms and climbed into his lap.

His companions in the carryall stared at child and man in open-mouthed wonder. Their eyes goggled as he told of his unique plan to rescue her.

"You see, some of that lawless gang down at the Corners had her hidden away in Jung's place," explained Jed. "And you get a thousand dollars!" shouted the leader of the band.

"Yes, the reward is yours," chorused half a dozen voices.

"Not so slow and poky, after all," commented Farmer Brown, when he came to know that Jed Hawkins had fairly won the price of a home for his pretty daughter, Nellie.

GARDEN FLOWER SHOW AUGUST 21-22

Mrs. J. L. Frederick is Chairman of the Committee on Arrangements For The Show

PRIZE LISTS DESIGNATED

Minnesota Garden Flower Society is Cooperating in a Splendid Manner

Committees are working hard to assure the success of the local garden flower show, which is to be held in the city on next Thursday and Friday, August 21st and 22nd. Mrs. J. L. Frederick, chairman of the committee on arrangements for this show has called a meeting of her committee for this afternoon to go over the list of awards and make out the prize lists.

The Minnesota Garden Flower Society is cooperating in a splendid manner, by giving a number of fine premiums. Local growers are advised to begin at once to groom their plants for the exhibit. A complete list of awards will be published in Monday's Dispatch.

The Brainerd show is designed to further the slogan, "Make Minnesota Blossom," and it is expected that it will do much to further interest in the growing of beautiful flowers. It is planned to have on exhibit all plants that are in blossom at this season of the year, but more especially dahlias and gladioli.

All flower lovers are urged to visit the exhibit and it is hoped that all flower growers will display specimens from their gardens. It has not been definitely decided as to where the show will be held, but convenient quarters will be secured in the business section, and announced later.

L. P. Hall, of Bay Lake, president of the County Garden Flower society, is taking an active interest in the Brainerd show, and will have some of his own specimens on display.

Other localities are interested in "Making Minnesota Blossom," among them being Walker. This village held its second flower show on Wednesday, and the Walker Pigeon has the following to say of the event:

Less flowers and added enthusiasm was noticeable at the second annual flower show held at the Auto Club rooms in Walker last Wednesday. The fact that there was a slight falling off in entries was an unavoidable circumstance over which weather conditions are wholly accountable. The Civic Club intended holding the flower show later owing to the lateness of the season which accounted for the absence of many varieties of flowers for which this county is noted, but a desire to co-operate with the Legion boys prompted them to hold the show at the early date.

This year the arrangement in the hall was better than last year as the committee of which Mrs. Kulander was chairman profited by their experience of last year. The quality of flowers shown this year was probably not up to those shown last year as a whole but few communities in the state could have made such a showing as was to be seen at the club rooms Wednesday. The rooms were simply one grand picture of the beautiful and was a practical picture of what the fertile soil of Cass county is capable of producing.

One of the pleasing features this year, which was freely commented upon was the fact that it proved to be more of a community affair in that the ladies from the country brought in many of the exhibits. Also there were exhibitors from Laporte and Leech Lake. This fact was pleasing to the committee in charge who have tried to have it thoroughly understood that the flower show is for the pleasure of all who can participate.

During the afternoon the following program was rendered: Piano solo by Miss Edith Kulander; two piano duets by Miss Ethel Olson and Mrs. Robert Swart; vocal duets by Mrs. Quint and Miss Morse of Agency Bay, accompanied by Miss Bertha Staede on the piano; vocal solo by Miss Morse; piano solo by Mrs. Finnegan.

Among the flowers which attracted unusual attention was a display of Canterbury Bells which were exhibited by the Misses Anna and Bertha Staede. The seed which produced these flowers were personally brought by them from Switzerland when they visited that country a year ago last winter.

Other especially attractive exhibits were the basket displays and the table decorations. They surpassed anything shown last year.

The judges were Mr. H. R. Fisher, Mr. A. K. McPherson and Mrs. F. E. Hoover of Oak Park, Illinois.

ERICK OMAN OF PEQUOT DIED AT PINE RIVER

Erick Oman, of Pequot, passed away at the Pine River hospital on Friday night, death resulting from old age.

Mr. Oman was a retired farmer, well known in his community. He was seventy-seven years of age and made his home with his son west of Pequot.

The remains were brought to Brainerd Saturday morning, and are at the Whitney chapel awaiting funeral arrangements which will not be made until relatives are heard from, but will be announced later.

Matron, Formerly Miss Hildegard Courtney, Presents Association With Fine Billiard Table

IN MEMORY OF HER PARENTS

At One Time Used by Dr. Courtney, Her Father, to Entertain Friends At His Home

Mrs. Raymond Jordan, formerly Miss Hildegard Courtney, who is leaving Brainerd today to make her home in New York, just prior to her departure, and in memory of her father and mother, presented to the Brainerd Young Men's Christian Association, the very fine billiard table, with which Dr. Courtney used to entertain his friends when visiting at his home.

This table will be a valuable addition to the facilities of the local Y. M. C. A. building, and the directors of the association take this method of publicly expressing their deep appreciation of Mrs. Jordan's generosity, which will mean so much to the boys of Brainerd who are members of the association.

George Lowe, president of the Y. M. C. A., states that it is his intention to have a plate engraved and placed on the table, showing that it was the gift to the association by the Courtney family.

ROADS GETTING BACK TO NORMAL

Recent Hard Rains Caused Some Damage Which Has Been Rapidly Repaired

ROAD SHOULDERS ARE MENDED

County Highway Engineer Murphy Gives Details on Roads Available for Sunday Tours

Roads throughout the county are rapidly getting back to normal condition after the damage done to many of them by the recent hard rains, reports County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy. Crews of men have been busy repairing shoulders of the road that were washed out, and in some instances putting in culverts to better take care of the drainage.

Motorists are promised a pleasant surprise in road conditions generally throughout the county, and Mr. Murphy's report which follows will assist many in planning Sunday tours:

State Road No. 2. (Dewey Highway). This road offers a connecting link through the southern tier of townships in the county, between Trunk Highways No. 27 and No. 18. While no new construction has been done on this road, it is maintained by the county and though narrow, is very passable. Contractor P. J. Roark is starting the construction of three miles of new road on this highway, which will shorten it four miles. The contract for this work was let at the last meeting of the county commissioners.

State Road No. 3. (Brainerd, Merrifield, Cross Lake, Emily). Brainerd to Merrifield, new construction, just completed and a little rough. Said to be in good condition for a new road. Merrifield to Cross Lake, very good. Next two miles to Pine lake, sandy, winding trail, balance of road to Emily, excellent.

State Road No. 4. (Crosby, Emily and north to Cass county line). Crosby north to Mississippi river bridge, road is winding, with many dangerous curves. Motorists have choice of two other routes, one through Cuyuna, the other by way of Manganese. Maintenance will not be continued until the new construction of two miles of road just south of the bridge has been completed. Bridge to Emily, very good. Emily through Outing to Cass county line, good.

State Road No. 5. (Deerwood, Bay Lake and south). This road is very good its entire length. Repairs are being made where numerous washouts occurred on shoulders of the road. This is a very scenic drive, since it follows the general shore line of Bay lake. The road connects Trunk Highways No. 2 and No. 18, meeting the latter at the Workman corner, sixteen miles east of Brainerd.

White lines throughout the county are much improved. Attention is called to White Line No. 4, starting on State Road No. 3, passing through Mission, and running east along the north side of the river to Little Pine. Last week this road was closed to the public. Four new culverts have been installed, and the road is again open for travel. It offers a very pretty river drive.

A county crew is today completing repairs on the Pequot-Breezy Point road, damaged by recent rains. The shoulders of this road have been bolstered and grass seed planted to stop washouts. White Line No. 10 between Merrifield and Breezy Point, is in good shape. This is called the "Inland Trail" and offers a short cut from Brainerd to Breezy Point. The distance is just twenty miles. The marl-surfaced road around the north side of Pelican lake is very good. This was constructed last year as an experiment, using marl surfacing. It has proven a decided success, from every viewpoint.

Mr. Murphy suggests that Sunday motorists plan tours that will include the roads mentioned in this report, which lead through all sections of the county. Pleasant drives are offered by going north from Brainerd on State Road No. 3, and either going east from Cross Lake on a new White Line road to State Road No. 4, or continuing north to the road from Pine River that connects with No. 4 at Emily. One may then go south to Crosby, or east through some very picturesque territory and then south to Aitkin.

SCOUT TROOP NO. 3 MOST SUCCESSFUL

Gave Ice Cream Social to Raise Money For Pup Tent and Signal Flags

175 VISITORS ATTENDED

Troop Held Regular Meetings at Lowell School Grounds, Sand Pit, River Flats, Etc.

"We want a 'pup' tent and some signal flags," said the boys of Scout Troop No. 3, of Northeast Brainerd. "And we are willing to work to get them," they continued to their scoutmaster a few weeks ago.

"That's fine," answered Scoutmaster James Templeton, "and what shall we do."

"Give an ice cream social," was the ready response. Plans were laid to hold the social on the lawn of the Peoples church, August 15. The Dispatch was called upon to print the necessary tickets and ten of the boys were picked to sell them, and that they are very efficient salesmen was proven last night when they served ice cream and cake to over 175 visitors. The boys served in a snappy manner and handled all the work, even to washing the dishes, in a very efficient manner, and are to be congratulated on their initiative.

No. 3 of Northeast Brainerd is one of the most active Scout troops in the city. They have held meetings regularly throughout the entire summer. During June they met every week and in July and August every two weeks. Their meeting place has been the great outdoors and included the Lowell school grounds, the sand pit, river flats, Gilbert lake, Ahren's hill, and others. Each week two scouts are selected to lay out the route and place for the coming meeting. A number of the boys attended camp at Merrifield during the season.

No. 3 is to be congratulated on having as their leader Scoutmaster James Templeton who has proven very efficient. Members of the troop are John Gallagher, Donald Guin, Albert Nelson, Walter Gartner, Wines Barnes, Carroll Guin, Alfred Engelhart, Kenneth Storm, Merle Storm, Joseph Doleson, Clarence Wetterlund, Harold Hanson, Warner, Bureau, Jay Burton, Elmer Masters, Ashley Stanley, Chester Card, Harvey Hanson.

The first 10 named were the ticket sellers.

Vaudeville at New Park Theatre on Monday and Tuesday at Popular Prices

The Clark Oldfield Vaudeville Road Show will play a two day engagement at the New Park Theatre Monday and Tuesday, August 18th and 19th. This company, consisting of high class vaudeville reviews is one of the best aggregations of its kind on the road. The feature of the bill is "Violette" in "Visions D'Art" in reproduction of famous paintings with the aid of spectacular electrical effects. Clark Oldfield and Miss Frankie Drew appear in a miniature musical comedy which, according to their advance notices, has more "kicks" in it than half the shows on the road. The finale is a concert by the Royal Hawaiian Orchestra direct from the highest theatres in the country. Three Hawaiian dancers who recently came to this country from their native land are with the orchestra.

GARDEN FLOWER SHOW AUGUST 21-22

Mrs. J. L. Frederick is Chairman of the Committee on Arrangements For The Show

PRIZE LISTS DESIGNATED

Minnesota Garden Flower Society is Cooperating in a Splendid Manner

Committees are working hard to assure the success of the local garden flower show, which is to be held in the city on next Thursday and Friday, August 21st and 22nd. Mrs. J. L. Frederick, chairman of the committee on arrangements for this show has called a meeting of her committee for this afternoon to go over the list of awards and make out the prize lists.

The Minnesota Garden Flower Society is cooperating in a splendid manner, by giving a number of fine premiums. Local growers are advised to begin at once to groom their plants for the exhibit. A complete list of awards will be published in Monday's Dispatch.

The Brainerd show is designed to further the slogan, "Make Minnesota Blossom," and it is expected that it will do much to further interest in the growing of beautiful flowers. It is planned to have on exhibit all plants that are in blossom at this season of the year, but more especially dahlias and gladioli.

All flower lovers are urged to visit the exhibit and it is hoped that all flower growers will display specimens from their gardens. It has not been definitely decided as to where the show will be held, but convenient quarters will be secured in the business section, and announced later.

L. P. Hall, of Bay Lake, president of the County Garden Flower society, is taking an active interest in the Brainerd show, and will have some of his own specimens on display.

Other localities are interested in "Making Minnesota Blossom," among them being Walker. This village held its second flower show on Wednesday, and the Walker Pilot has the following to say of the event:

Less flowers and added enthusiasm was noticeable at the second annual flower show held at the Auto Club rooms in Walker last Wednesday. The fact that there was a slight falling off in entries was an unavoidable circumstance over which weather conditions are wholly accountable. The Civic Club intended holding the flower show later owing to the lateness of the season which accounted for the absence of many varieties of flowers for which this county is noted, but a desire to co-operate with the Legion boys prompted them to hold the show at the early date.

This year the arrangement in the hall was better than last year as the committee of which Mrs. Kulander was chairman profited by their experience of last year. The quality of flowers shown this year was probably not up to those shown last year as a whole but few communities in the state could have made such a showing as was to be seen at the club rooms Wednesday. The rooms were simply one grand picture of the beautiful and was a practical picture of what the fertile soil of Cass county is capable of producing.

One of the pleasing features this year, which was freely commented upon was the fact that it proved to be more of a community affair, in that the ladies from the country brought in many of the exhibits. Also there were exhibitors from Laporte and Leech Lake. This fact was pleasing to the committee in charge who have tried to have it thoroughly understood that the flower show is for the pleasure of all who can participate.

During the afternoon the following program was rendered: Piano solo by Miss Edith Kulander; two piano duets by Miss Ethel Olson and Mrs. Robert Swart; vocal duets by Mrs. Quint and Miss Morse of Agency bay, accompanied by Miss Bertha Staede on the piano; vocal solo by Miss Morse; piano solo by Mrs. Finnegan.

Among the flowers which attracted unusual attention was a display of Canterbury Bells which were exhibited by the Misses Anna and Bertha Staede. The seed which produced these flowers were personally brought by them from Switzerland when they visited that country a year ago last winter.

Other especially attractive exhibits were the basket displays and the table decorations. They surpassed anything shown last year.

The judges were Mr. H. R. Fisher, Mr. A. K. McPherson and Mrs. F. E. Hoover of Oak Park, Illinois.

Mrs. Raymond Jordan, formerly Miss Hildegard Courtney, who is leaving Brainerd today to make her home in New York, just prior to her departure, and in memory of her father and mother, presented to the Brainerd Young Men's Christian Association, the very fine billiard table, with which Dr. Courtney used to entertain his friends when visiting at his home.

This table will be a valuable addition to the facilities of the local Y. M. C. A. building, and the directors of the association take this method of publicly expressing their deep appreciation of Mrs. Jordan's generosity, which will mean so much to the boys of Brainerd who are members of the association.

George Lowe, president of the Y. M. C. A., states that it is his intention to have a plate engraved and placed on the table, showing that it was the gift to the association by the Courtney family.

ROADS GETTING BACK TO NORMAL

Recent Hard Rains Caused Some Damage Which Has Been Rapidly Repaired

ROAD SHOULDERS ARE MENDED

County Highway Engineer Murphy Gives Details on Roads Available For Sunday Tours

Roads throughout the county are rapidly getting back to normal condition after the damage done to many of them by the recent hard rains, reports County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy. Crews of men have been busy repairing shoulders of the road that were washed out, and in some instances putting in culverts to better take care of the drainage.

Motorists are promised a pleasant surprise in road conditions generally throughout the county, and Mr. Murphy's report which follows will assist many in planning Sunday tours: State Road No. 2. (Dewey Highway). This road offers a connecting link through the southern tier of townships in the county, between Trunk Highways No. 27 and No. 18. While no new construction has been done on this road, it is maintained by the county and though narrow, is very passable. Contractor P. J. Roark is starting the construction of three miles of new road on this highway, which will shorten it four miles. The contract for this work was let at the last meeting of the county commissioners.

State Road No. 3. (Brainerd, Merrifield, Cross Lake, Emily). Brainerd to Merrifield, new construction, just completed and a little rough. Is said to be in good condition for a new road. Merrifield to Cross Lake, very good. Next two miles to Pine Lake, sandy, winding trail, balance of road to Emily, excellent.

State Road No. 4. (Crosby, Emily and north to Cass county line). Crosby by north to Mississippi river bridge, road is winding, with many dangerous curves. Motorists have choice of two other routes, one through Cuyuna, the other by way of Mangane. Maintenance will not be continued until the new construction of two miles of road just south of the bridge has been completed. Bridge to Emily, very good. Emily through Outing to Cass county line, good.

State Road No. 5. (Deerwood, Bay Lake and south). This road is very good its entire length. Repairs are being made where numerous washouts occurred on shoulders of the road. This is a very scenic drive, since it follows the general shore line of Bay Lake. The road connects Trunk Highways No. 2 and No. 18, meeting the latter at the Workman corner, sixteen miles east of Brainerd.

White lines throughout the county are much improved. Attention is called to White Line No. 4, starting on State Road No. 3, passing through Mission, and running east along the north side of the river to Little Pine. Last week this road was closed to the public. Four new culverts have been installed, and the road is again open for travel. It offers a very pretty river drive.

A county crew is today completing repairs on the Pequot-Breezy Point road, damaged by recent rains. The shoulders of this road have been bolstered and grass seed planted to stop washouts. White Line No. 10 between Merrifield and Breezy Point, is in good shape. This is called the "Inland Trail" and offers a short cut from Brainerd to Breezy Point. The distance is just twenty miles. The marl-surfaced road around the north side of Pelican lake is very good. This was constructed last year as an experiment, using marl surfacing. It has proven a decided success, from every viewpoint.

Mr. Murphy suggests that Sunday motorists plan tours that will include the roads mentioned in this report, which lead through all sections of the county. Pleasant drives are offered by going north from Brainerd on State Road No. 3, and either going east from Cross Lake on a new White Line road to State Road No. 4, or continuing north to the road from Pine River that connects with No. 4 at Emily. One may then go south to Crosby, or east through some very picturesque territory and then south to Aitkin.

SCOUT TROOP NO. 3 MOST SUCCESSFUL

Gave Ice Cream Social to Raise Money For Pup Tent and Signal Flags

175 VISITORS ATTENDED

Troop Held Regular Meetings at Lowell School Grounds, Sand Pit, River Flats, Etc.

"We want a 'pup' tent and some signal flags," said the boys of Scout Troop No. 3, of Northeast Brainerd. "And we are willing to work to get them," they continued to their scoutmaster a few weeks ago.

"That's fine," answered Scoutmaster James Templeton, "and what shall we do."

"Give an ice cream social," was the ready response.

Plans were laid to hold the social on the lawn of the Peoples church, August 15. The Dispatch was called upon to print the necessary tickets and ten of the boys were picked to sell them, and that they are very efficient salesmen was proven last night when they served ice cream and cake to over 175 visitors. The boys served in a snappy manner and handled all the work, even to washing the dishes, in a very efficient manner, and are to be congratulated on their initiative.

No. 3 of Northeast Brainerd is one of the most active Scout troops in the city. They have held meetings regularly throughout the entire summer. During June they met every week and in July and August, every two weeks. Their meeting place has been the great outdoors and included the Lowell school grounds, the sand pit, river flats, Gilbert lake, Ahren's hill, and others. Each week two scouts are selected to lay out the route and place for the coming meeting. A number of the boys attended camp at Merrifield during the season.

No. 3 is to be congratulated on having as their leader Scoutmaster James Templeton who has proven very efficient. Members of the troop are John Gallagher, Donald Guin, Albert Nelson, Walter Gajner, Wini Barnes, Carrol Guin, Alfred Engelhart, Kenneth Storm, Merle Storm, Joseph Doleson, Clarence Wetterlund, Harold Hanson, Warner, Bureau, Jay Burton, Elmer Masters, Ashley Stanley, Chester Card, Harvey Hanson.

The first 10 named were the ticket sellers.

Vaudeville at New Park Theatre on Monday and Tuesday at Popular Prices

The Clark Oldfield Vaudeville Road Show will play a two day engagement at the New Park Theatre Monday and Tuesday, August 18th and 19th. This company, consisting of high class vaudeville reviews is one of the best aggregations of its kind on the road. The feature of the bill is "Violette" in "Visions D'Art" in reproduction of famous paintings with the aid of spectacular electrical effects. Clark Oldfield and Miss Frankie Drew appear in a miniature musical comedy which, according to their advance notices, has more "kicks" in it than half the shows on the road. The finale is a concert by the Royal Hawaiian Orchestra direct from the highest theatres in the country. Three Hawaiian dancers who recently came to this country from their native land are with the orchestra.

"WILD BULL" FAVORED TO WIN

(By United Press)

New York, Aug. 16.—Fistic treats, such as the Firpo-Wills match would seem to promise, so often disintegrate into thin air for one reason or another, that it is a relief to see everything indicate that the proposed bout will come off on schedule.

The big black already is in training, and Firpo, although he brought considerable avoidupois, together with his other troubles, along with him from South America, lost little time in making tracks for a gymnasium and showing his wares.

Particularly proud is Senor Firpo of his new left hand. Although he complains occasionally of rheumatism in his port elbow, he never loses an opportunity to point with pride to his new-found weapon of offense.

If the South American really can work up a snappy left-hand punch, even if it is only good for jabbing and leading, and if the referee is as good at making Wills fight cleanly as on the occasion of the negro's bout with Bartley Madden, Firpo should take the dusky heavyweight's measure.

It is doubtful if Wills could stand up under the punishment conveyed by the "Wild Bull's" right. Harry has an excellent defense, and might well weather the storm for a good many rounds, but Firpo has shown an indomitable toughness and ability to keep hammering away, and sooner or later it seems certain he would wear Wills down.

Firpo is nothing if not confident. He feels that he should have beaten Dempsey when they met, and has one or two alibis. He professes to hold Wills rather lightly, and to regard the match as a stepping-stone to a return bout with Jack Dempsey.

The latter's injuries may have further postponed the date of his return to the ring; certainly it is not likely he will be seen in action before the outdoor season of 1925.

It was the prospect of a bout with Dempsey this year, however, which lured Firpo from South America, the Argentine said.

"I was well tired of it all, and had really made up my mind to retire," he explained when he arrived here and had straightened out the difficulties that arose over the presence of a certain buxom blond in an adjoining state-room.

MISS HELEN WILLS RETAINS WOMEN'S TENNIS CROWN

(By United Press)

West Side Tennis Courts, Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 16.—With a demonstration of tennis that was close to perfect, Miss Helen Wills, 18-year-old national and Olympic champion, retained her title as queen of the American courts here this afternoon when she ran away from Mrs. Molla Mallory in the final round for the championship and won in straight sets of 6-1, 6-3.

At no time from the time the young California girl went to her place on the field was there a question of the winner. In all her long career, Mrs. Molla Mallory never had seen such tennis. Never before, even against the famous Mlle. Lenglen, had the former champion looked across the court at an opponent so perfect in all her strokes, so unruffled in the face of opposition and so cool and confident from stroke to stroke. The perfect form shown by the California girl threw the gallery into a frenzy of enthusiasm. While strong partisan for Miss Wills, they were ready to acclaim the great fighting heart of Mrs. Mallory.

Oldest Work of Fiction

"The Tale of Two Brothers," so far as anyone now knows, is the oldest existing piece of fiction. It was written 32 centuries ago by Enana, a scribe of Thebes, who was librarian in the palace of King Meneptha, identified by some as the pharaoh who held the Israelites in bondage.

The tale, which is written on 19 sheets of papyrus, appears to have been invented to entertain the oldest of the princes who subsequently ascended the Egyptian throne. This strange old manuscript now reposes in the British museum, where it is known as the "D'Orbigny papyrus."

Another old book, written more than a thousand years ago, mentions two breeds of poultry which are still being raised in China today.

History of Loving Cups

All racing cups are not necessarily loving cups. A loving cup is one having two or more handles, generally constructed of silver. The custom of the loving cup is traced back to the days of wassailing. It was continued after the introduction of Christianity. The monks called the wassail bowl the "poculum caritatis," meaning "loving cup." The ceremony of drinking from one cup and passing it around was observed in the Jewish paschal supper.

TRAPSHOOTERS GRAND AMERICAN AT DAYTON, OHIO

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED FOR THE BLUE RIBBON CLASSIC

BEGINS ON THE NEW DAYTON GROUNDS ON AUGUST 25TH

Trapshooting stands on the threshold of a new era. When the 25th Grand American Handicap trapshooting tournament begins in Dayton, O., on August 25th, the new headquarters of the Amateur Trapshooting Association will be turned over to the trapshooters at large. It is up to the trapshooters to support this wise move and to make the tournament at Dayton the most successful in the history of the sport.

It is a fine program that the officers have mapped out and should attract hundreds of clay target breakers. The new grounds at Dayton are 10 miles north of the city, comprise 62 acres and is 1260 feet in length. The Grand American has never been shot on finer grounds. Dayton, too, is just about in the center of population of the United States—and trapshooters at home. Those who attended the previous tournaments in Dayton can vouch for this.

George McCarthy, president of the Trapshooting organization, has toured the country in the interest of the Grand American, and if the tournament does not go over big it will not be the fault of the leader. Indications are that some things will be conducted a little differently this year than in the past. We understand that the events are to be run on a time schedule, that a shooter will know just when he is to shoot and can go down the line, doing away with the long waits.

The shoot will open on the 25th with the Dayton Introductory, 200 targets at 16 yards. On the 26th the Clay Target championship of North America, the professional singles, woman's singles, race of champions and five man zone team championship will be decided, 200 targets at 16 yards. The Junior championship will also be decided, 100 targets, 16 yards. The class championships, A, B, C, D, E and F will be shot on the 27th; the Preliminary Handicap on the 28th, the Grand American on the 29th and the doubles championships, amateur, professionals and woman's on the 30th, also the Consolation and International events. The International is shot 20 targets from 18 yards, 20 from 20, 20 from 23, 20 from 25 and 10 pair.

The Handicap committee is comprised of S. S. Foster, Mason City, Ia., chairman; Guy Dering, Columbus, Wis.; F. O. Koch, Brookville, O.; D. K. Dickinson, Merriam, Kans.; J. B. Fontaine, Philadelphia; Sam Sherman, Salt Lake City; Ed Meyers, Buffalo; T. J. Aycock, Jacksonville, H. N. Alford, Atlanta. Fred Whitney of the Winchester field forces will act as cashier for the 22nd consecutive year. Bernie Elssner will compile scores for the 19th year and Jimmy O'Hanlon will act as squad hustler.

The Governor's Cup all-round championship will be shot for at 1000 targets—the Dayton introductory, North American singles and doubles, championships, class championship, preliminary and grand American handicaps. R. A. King won the title in 1921. Phil Miller in 1922 and Mark Arie last year. Phil Miller won the J. S. Day trophy last year which is up in the Singles and Doubles championship and the Grand American.—From National Sports Syndicate.

"WILD BULL" FAVORED TO WIN

(By United Press)

New York, Aug. 16.—Fistic treats, such as the Firpo-Wills match would seem to promise, so often disintegrate into thin air for one reason or another, that it is a relief to see everything indicate that the proposed bout will come off on schedule.

The big black already is in training, and Firpo, although he brought considerable avoidpous, together with his other troubles, along with him from South America, lost little time in making tracks for a gymnasium and showing his wares.

Particularly proud is Senor Firpo of his new left hand. Although he complains occasionally of rheumatism in his port elbow, he never loses an opportunity to point with pride to his new-found weapon of offense.

If the South American really can work up a snappy left-hand punch, even if it is only good for jabbing and leading, and if the referee is as good at making Wills fight cleanly as on the occasion of the negro's bout with Bartley Madden, Firpo should take the dusky heavyweight's measure.

It is doubtful if Wills could stand up under the punishment conveyed by the "Wild Bull's" right. Harry has an excellent defense, and might well weather the storm for a good many rounds, but Firpo has shown an indomitable toughness and ability to keep hammering away, and sooner or later it seems certain he would wear Wills down.

Firpo is nothing if not confident. He feels that he should have beaten Dempsey when they met, and has one or two alibis. He professes to hold Wills rather lightly, and to regard the match as a stepping-stone to a return bout with Jack Dempsey.

The latter's injuries may have further postponed the date of his return to the ring; certainly it is not likely he will be seen in action before the outdoor season of 1925.

It was the prospect of a bout with Dempsey this year, however, which lured Firpo from South America, the Argentine said.

"I was well tired of it all, and had really made up my mind to retire," he explained when he arrived here and had straightened out the difficulties that arose over the presence of a certain buxom blond in an adjoining state-room.

PEARL HANDLED POCKET KNIFE FOR JOE BUSH

ENGRAVED ON SAME IS HIS OWN
AUTOGRAPHED SIGNATURE

TO BE PRESENTED TO HIM BY GEORGE TRENT SR. OF BRAINERD

"Joe Bullet" Bush, Yankee twirler, and a former Brainerd boy, will soon be remembered with a fine pearl-handled pocket knife, upon which is engraved his own autographed signature. This will come as a surprise to Joe, who has no inkling of the gift.

Several weeks ago George Trent Sr., was in New York at a convention of salesmen of the Remington Arms Company, and saw the Yankees play on two or three occasions, in one of which Bush was on the mound and won his game.

Joe extended so many courtesies to Mr. Trent that as a slight appreciation the latter had his company make up a fine pocket knife especially for the pitcher. He asked Joe to write his name on a slip of paper, and this autograph was sent in and duplicated in engraving on the knife handle.

PLAYING GOLF AFTER NIGHTFALL

The Houston, Texas, Country club has found a way to play golf after nightfall. The problem of darkness has been solved by the use of flashlights and Houston's enthusiasts now can play golf twenty-four hours a day.

Four expert players—Tommy B. Cochran and W. C. Hunt, from the amateur ranks, and Willie Marguire and John Bredemus, professionals—demonstrated the possibilities in a thrilling night match over the 18-hole course, the pro team winning three up.

Two flashlights were used throughout, one trained on the ball and the other held over the putting green at the next hole. In every tee shot there was a black void to be played across. The player could see the ball and the distant beam of light which marked his destination but had to call on his golfing intuition to know how much power to put behind the drive. The only variation from standard rules was that a lost ball could be replaced without penalty. But three balls were lost. Each player had a number and the same number was painted on his ball.

Marguire had the best individual score, with a 76. Par for the course is 72. A gallery of 200 followed the match, which had been intended as a demonstration of the practicability of luminous balls. The luminous balls, however, failed to live up to expectations and the flashlight idea was evolved upon the spur of the moment and was successful.

THON TIGERS 18 MARSHALL'S BADGERS 0

Marshall's badgers suffered their first defeat at the hands of the Thon Tigers, being shut out by a score of 18 to 0.

The game was a hard fought one, played on the Koering grounds Saturday morning. Bedal, of the Tigers distinguished himself by making a two-base hit, the only feature of the entire game.

Battery for the Badgers: Peterson and Schwindeman; for the Tigers, Torkelson and Thon.

MISS HELEN WILLS RETAINS WOMEN'S TENNIS CROWN

(By United Press)

West Side Tennis Courts, Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 16.—With a demonstration of tennis that was close to perfect, Miss Helen Wills, 18-year-old national and Olympic champion, retained her title as queen of the American courts here this afternoon when she ran away from Mrs. Molla Mallory in the final round for the championship and won in straight sets of 6-1, 6-3.

At no time from the time the young California girl went to her place on the field was there a question of the winner. In all her long career, Mrs. Molla Mallory never had seen such tennis. Never before, even against the famous Mlle. Lenglen, had the former champion looked across the court at an opponent so perfect in all her strokes, so unruffled in the face of opposition and so cool and confident from stroke to stroke. The perfect form shown by the California girl threw the gallery into a frenzy of enthusiasm. While strong partisan for Miss Wills, they were ready to acclaim the great fighting heart of Mrs. Mallory.

Oldest Work of Fiction

"The Tale of Two Brothers," so far as anyone now knows, is the oldest existing piece of fiction. It was written 32 centuries ago by Enana, a scribe of Thebes, who was librarian in the palace of King Meneptha, identified by some as the pharaoh who held the Israelites in bondage.

The tale, which is written on 19 sheets of papyrus, appears to have been invented to entertain the oldest of the princes who subsequently ascended the Egyptian throne. This strange old manuscript now reposes in the British museum, where it is known as the "D'Orbigny papyrus."

Another old book, written more than a thousand years ago, mentions two breeds of poultry which are still being raised in China today.

History of Loving Cups

All racing cups are not necessarily loving cups. A loving cup is one having two or more handles, generally constructed of silver. The custom of the loving cup is traced back to the days of wassailing. It was continued after the introduction of Christianity. The monks called the wassail bowl the "poculum caritatis," meaning "loving cup." The ceremony of drinking from one cup and passing it around was observed in the Jewish paschal supper.

TRAPSHOOTERS GRAND AMERICAN AT DAYTON, OHIO

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED FOR THE BLUE RIBBON
CLASSIC

BEGINS ON THE NEW DAYTON
GROUNDS ON AUGUST
25TH

Trapshooting stands on the threshold of a new era. When the 25th Grand American Handicap trapshooting tournament begins in Dayton, O., on August 25th, the new headquarters of the Amateur Trapshooting Association will be turned over to the trapshooters at large. It is up to the trapshooters to support this wise move and to make the tournament at Dayton the most successful in the history of the sport.

It is a fine program that the officers have mapped out and should attract hundreds of clay target breakers. The new grounds at Dayton are 10 miles north of the city, comprise 62 acres and is 1360 feet in length. The Grand American has never been shot on finer grounds. Dayton, too, is just about in the center of population of the United States—and Dayton is strong for making the trapshooters at home. Those who attended the previous tournaments in Dayton can vouch for this.

George McCarthy, president of the Trapshooting organization, has toured the country in the interest of the Grand American, and if the tournament does not go over big it will not be the fault of the leader. Indications are that some things will be conducted a little differently this year than in the past. We understand that the events are to be run on a time schedule, that a shooter will know just when he is to shoot and can go down the line, doing away with the long waits.

The shoot will open on the 25th with the Dayton Introductory, 200 targets at 16 yards. On the 26th the Clay Target championship of North America, the professional singles, woman's singles, race of champions and five man zone team championship will be decided, 200 targets at 16 yards. The Junior championship will also be decided, 100 targets, 16 yards. The class championships, A, B, C, D, E and F will be shot on the 27th; the Preliminary Handicap on the 28th, the Grand American on the 29th and the doubles championships, amateur, professionals and woman's on the 30th, also the Consolation and International events. The International is shot 20 targets from 18 yards, 20 from 20, 20 from 23, 20 from 25 and 10 pair.

The Handicap committee is comprised of S. S. Foster, Mason City, Ia., chairman; Guy Dering, Columbus, Wis.; F. O. Koch, Brookville, O.; D. K. Dickinson, Merriam, Kans.; J. B. Fontaine, Philadelphia; Sam Sherman, Salt Lake City; Ed Meyers, Buffalo; T. J. Aycock, Jacksonville, Fla.; H. N. Alford, Atlanta. Fred Whitney of the Winchester field forces will act as cashier for the 22nd consecutive year. Bernie Elssesser will compile scores for the 19th year and Jimmy O'Hanlon will act as squad hustler.

The Governor's Cup all-round championship will be shot for at 1000 targets—the Dayton introductory, North American singles and doubles, championships, class championship, preliminary and grand American handicaps. R. A. King won the title in 1921. Phil Miller in 1922 and Mark Arie last year. Phil Miller won the J. S. Day trophy last year which is up in the Singles and Doubles championship and the Grand American.—From National Sports Syndicate.
